

2024 Impact Report

Our Mission

To empower first-generation and/or low-income (FGLI) students and graduates with career information and skills, professional networks, and employment opportunities, through a free Platform and a community of volunteers and allies. We envision a future where every FGLI college student in the United States secures meaningful, high-quality employment.

A MESSAGE FROM OUR

Founder & President

CareerSpring is much more than a non-profit organization providing career access; CareerSpring is a movement with tens of thousands of people committed to our vision.

Dear friends,

On behalf of the CareerSpring Advisees we support, I'd like to thank you for your partnership and commitment to our mission. I am thrilled to share our Impact Report with you, highlighting our growth and success from 2024 as we continue to expand rapidly in both scope and scale.

Over the past year, we reached several significant milestones—welcoming over 375 Employer, Community, and Education Partners, surpassing 25,000 registered Advisees from 1,250 colleges and universities, celebrating our 500th direct placement and 4,000 total consultations, and successfully launching our FORWARD internship program.

As I reflect on our progress, I am most excited about the power of our Network. Last year, we hosted receptions in several cities where I witnessed firsthand the enthusiasm and dedication of our Advisees, volunteer Advisors, Board Members, and representatives from Partner organizations. These events showcased the deep connections being formed and the shared commitment to our mission. I'm inspired by the dozens of Advisees transitioning into Advisor roles, ready to support the next generation of FGLI students. Imagine the possibilities when a majority of our current Advisees become Advisors themselves—an expanding flywheel of mentorship and opportunity. CareerSpring is much more than a non-profit organization providing career access; CareerSpring is a movement with tens of thousands of people committed to our vision—a future where every FGLI student in the United States secures meaningful, high-quality employment.

As we enter our fifth year, I am overcome with gratitude for all of our volunteers, Partners, donors, and team members, who have made this progress possible. I am also incredibly optimistic about the road ahead as we launch our new technology platform, designed to enhance engagement and expand our impact.

Together, we are building a future of opportunity and success for FGLI students across the country.

With gratitude and optimism,

Paul Posoli

Over 50+ Users on the Advisee to Advisor Pathway

In 2024, CareerSpring piloted a new 'Dual User' type. Dual Users are recent college graduates who can continue to use the Career Platform as an Advisee, while also volunteering to serve as Advisors—helping guide the next generation of FGLI graduates. This initiative allowed Advisees to connect with 'dual users' and ask for advice, network, and gain early career insights. We're grateful to the Advisees who volunteered to be a part of this impactful initiative!

When CareerSpring was founded, we envisioned that one day the Advisees we support will become Advisors—guiding future generations of FGLI professionals. In 2024, this vision became a reality.

Haoxi Wang, a CareerSpring Advisee and alum of Boston University, learned about CareerSpring in his senior year while searching for a role in the financial services industry. During Haoxi's job search, he connected to Advisor Casey McKinney, a Managing Director at Barings, for a career conversation. Fast-forward to today, and Haoxi is working full-time at Barings on their Industrials High Yield Team and maintains a strong relationship with Casey. He shared:

CareerSpring has been an invaluable resource in my journey as a first-generation, Asian-American student... the Platform has connected me with a network of professionals from across the country, offering mentorship and insights that have been instrumental in shaping my career path."

Now in the early stages of his career, Haoxi has stayed close with the CareerSpring Network as a member of our Young Leaders Advisory Board and actively connects with Advisees to offer his own career advice. He also shared internship opportunities from Barings and encouraged other Advisees to apply.

The chain reaction of Haoxi's success with CareerSpring impacted the career journey of Advisee Krisha Gogri, a finance major at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst. She tapped into CareerSpring's Network while looking for an internship and applied for the Barings role Haoxi shared. She worked closely with our Job Placement Team to prepare for the interview and ultimately secured a role as an Investment Banking Intern. Reflecting on her experience, Krisha shared, "The Advisors and organizations on this Platform are truly invested in helping first-generation and low-income students gain exposure to career opportunities and industries they may not have considered. Everyone was eager to support me on my journey to securing this internship."

One conversation acted as a catalyst for Haoxi's career journey, and because of that Haoxi's gratitude and advocacy for CareerSpring then changed Krisha's career journey. We believe this positive impact will continue with the many voices of FGLI graduates acting as advocates for generations to come.

Students Empowering Students

Omar Villanueva
Lake Forest College
Class of 2026

Vanshika Dhawan
University of Houston
Class of 2026

Every year, CareerSpring recruits engaged Advisees who are passionate about our mission to join our Ambassador Program. These CareerSpring Ambassadors take action on their campuses and in their local communities to help raise awareness of our resources to other FGLI students, while also acting as advocates at events or with Partners. In 2024, this program welcomed 40 Ambassadors—our largest group yet!

While students find CareerSpring for many reasons and in many different ways, we know there is no greater way to share our mission than through the experiences of those who have benefitted from our resources. For CareerSpring Ambassador Vanshika Dhawan, this leadership role meant she was able to give back and help other students in their career journey. She shared:

“By assisting students in kick starting their careers with internships—whether through word of mouth or guidance on how to use the Platform—they can begin building generational wealth and envision a financially secure future. The idea of helping others achieve these goals is both inspiring and motivating.”

Ambassador Omar Villanueva was similarly impressed with CareerSpring's dedication to students who identify as FGLI and how our resources specifically catered to them. He quickly fell in love with the mission and knew he wanted to be a part of something that was incredibly special to him. When asked why he wanted to get involved, he recounted the day that he was offered a placement in the CareerSpring FORWARD Internship Program. Omar had applied and interviewed for the Program, and was awaiting the decision. During that time, he was encouraged to go to an in-person CareerSpring event where he reconnected with Advisor Kerry Griffin. Omar had met Kerry at a previous social summit hosted by Employer Partner MERGE. After such an impactful conversation at the event, Kerry and the CareerSpring team couldn't wait to share with Omar the news of his FORWARD internship offer at MERGE. “The most impactful part of that day which sticks with me is how a simple decision to take advantage of my resources and interact with CareerSpring led to such an amazing opportunity which I did not expect. I was beyond grateful and so excited because of what happened that day and what was to come.”

Omar and Vanshika are just two of the important CareerSpring Ambassadors sharing our mission on campuses across the United States. Their passion for CareerSpring and connecting others to our resources will change the lives of FGLI students and graduates for years to come. Yasamin Mahallaty, CareerSpring's Senior Manager of Strategic Innovation shared, “Our College Ambassadors are a key component of CareerSpring's team. They not only spread the word about CareerSpring on their campuses through events and outreach, but also serve as consultants in our organization's strategy and future planning. We are fortunate to have such an incredible group of students!”

Bridging Classrooms to Careers: The CareerSpring FORWARD Program

CareerSpring expanded its programming in a major way with the launch of our CareerSpring FORWARD Internship Program. This early career identification program was designed to help students gain hands-on experience in the summer after their first or second year in college. The program’s focus was to ensure every participant could discover their strengths and interests, explore potential career options that align with their goals, and inspire confidence in their abilities as they prepare for future internships and full-time employment.

Jimmy Weng, a FORWARD Intern at Employer Partner BDO, reflected on his experience:

“ I met many people in different industries that I didn’t know existed before. More importantly, I got to understand what firm culture truly meant. The people at BDO showed me a culture that was both open and encouraging... I would encourage all underrepresented students to take part, as it gave me a new perspective on the professional world.”

CareerSpring worked with 25 Employer Partners across the nation, a mix of companies and non-profit organizations, to welcome 69 students to participate in the program in its inaugural year.

Steven Shill from BDO shared, “We were thrilled to be a part of such a fantastic program, providing internships to a bright group of students. They brought a fresh perspective, strong work ethic, and a genuine curiosity for learning. Engaging with early talent through programs like FORWARD is an investment in the future of our organization and industry.”

We are so grateful to BDO and all of our Employer Partners who took the leap with CareerSpring as we expanded our programming. We know that bridging the gap from the classroom to the workplace for FGLI students plays a crucial role in their future employment, and the FORWARD Program ensured that each intern walked away with valuable work experience related to their industry of choice.

of Employer Partners that hosted FORWARD Interns in 2024 would recommend this Internship Program to other companies.

98%

of FORWARD Interns agree that they now feel more confident applying for future internships after completing this program.

Top 3 Value-Adds for Employers:

- Provided early talent exposure to their company or industry
- Contributed to their company’s diversity and inclusivity initiatives
- Offered a new opportunity for employee engagement

The Power of Our Network

CareerSpring was founded in 2020 as an online career access Platform. While our resources remain online and accessible to FGLI students across the United States, we've been fortunate enough to see our Network step outside the virtual space for in-person engagement—especially in 2024.

The power of CareerSpring's Network enabled a range of in-person experiences for Advisees. Events ranged from industry-specific information sessions with Manulife in Boston or Medidata in New York, to an interactive networking event in Los Angeles with the Women in Institutional Investments Network, a professional workshop day with Blue Cross Blue Shield Texas, or access to events such as Commodities People's Houston Energy Trading Conference.

Kent Kamanzi, an Advisee from Texas Southern University, shared that the professional workshop day with Blue Cross Blue Shield event “provided valuable insights into the industry, allowed me to connect with professionals, and helped me expand my career opportunities. The access to CareerSpring's resources and networking opportunities has been incredibly beneficial in navigating my career path.”

Furthermore, in Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, and New York, CareerSpring hosted Network-focused receptions that brought together Employer and Education Partners, Advisors, Advisees, and both Regional and National Advisory Board Members. Seeing our Network come together in one room was incredible, and Partners heard first-hand the impact CareerSpring has had on the FGLI Advisees we support.

Ariana Lester from Employer Partner Horizon Media, shared:

“ We had the privilege of attending the CareerSpring Network Reception [in New York City], and we were deeply impressed... The words shared by CareerSpring's President truly reflected a genuine passion for the cause, and it was clear that the program has built meaningful, lasting relationships with the students. The dedication to supporting the student's success was inspiring, and it left a lasting impact on us.”

We were thrilled to see engagement with our local Networks reach a new level in 2024, and cannot wait to see that progress further as we continue to deepen and diversify meaningful career exposure for Advisees.

Turning Connections into Career Opportunities

88 Influenced Hires in 2024

The power of our Network continues to grow beyond the direct placements facilitated by the CareerSpring Team. In 2024, our Job Placement Team started tracking 'influenced hires' who are Advisees that secured a career opportunity outside of our Employer Network postings—such as an Advisor connection, support from our Job Placement Team, a session with a Candidate Coach, or participation in our Lunch and Learn Series.

CareerSpring Advisee Abraham Ailemen is a first-generation college student at Cornell University who secured a life-changing internship at a global consulting firm with the support of CareerSpring. After learning about CareerSpring's resources through Education Partner Chicago Scholars' EMERGE Program, Abraham started attending Lunch & Learns and connecting with Advisors to help him reach his professional and personal goals. He shared that:

The personalized advice I have received from these industry professionals has been both encouraging and enlightening, leaving a lasting impression on my career trajectory.

Abraham understood the importance of not applying to positions blindly, and that knowing someone connected to a company can make all the difference. When applying for an internship with West Monroe, he strategically sought out CareerSpring Advisors whose experiences aligned with the position and company. He eventually developed a strong rapport with Advisor Gian Luis Delgado, a former consultant at West Monroe who began volunteering with CareerSpring just two weeks after our Career Platform launched in 2020. Gian Luis shared, "Mentors changed the course of my professional career and I hope my journey resonates with first-generation students and all students seeking empathy with the challenges of starting your early career."

Both Gian Luis and Abraham were at important moments in their lives when they met. Abraham was an ambitious and motivated college student preparing for the final round interview with West Monroe, and Gian Luis was in full preparation mode to welcome a new addition to his family. Abraham was anxious and looking for guidance as he prepared for his final interview, and Gian Luis was there for him.

Abraham reflected that, "Gian Luis, who was to be a father the same week of my request, found time to sit with me to make sure I was ready for whatever hurdle my final interview presented. Today, I am beyond confident that my chat with Gian Luis was a paramount factor in securing the internship opportunity with West Monroe."

We know the success of our Advisees continues to inspire our Advisors, encouraging them to remain dedicated to making the time for networking and career conversations on our Platform. One conversation can change someone's life, and the power of relationships born through the CareerSpring Network is changing the lives of Advisees like Abraham every day.

Financials

Our Financials

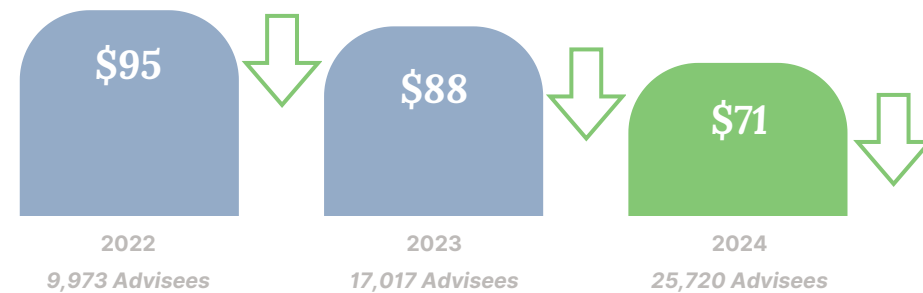

We believe that creating access to high-quality and meaningful employment shouldn't involve creating a financial burden for the FGLI students and graduates that we serve, nor should it be restricted to a select group. That's why, upon our founding, we pursued a service model that provides a completely free resource to students and student-serving organizations, as well as a revenue model that grows as more students are served. Put simply, our growth is achieved with minimal increase in operational costs. Through the cost-free scalability of our Platform, and the in-kind human and intellectual capital of our Network, we can sustain service to a growing number of FGLI students over a long period of time.

As CareerSpring's mission and presence expands, so does the exponential, long-term impact that we can deliver to the communities that we serve. Our success depends on growing partnerships through the investment of corporate leaders, foundations, and individuals who believe in providing FGLI students with access to career pathways that will advance economic mobility.
